Coffee, Cake and Choir

Radcliffe on Trent Male Voice Choir delivers another storming performance; as Storm Amy battered Britain on Saturday October 4th, Radcliffe on Trent Male Voice Choir members buttoned their blazers and entertained a sizeable audience in the beautiful St Peter's Church, Nottingham - the one by M&S.

Appropriately starting with My Lord, What a Mornin' and moving on to Bridge Over Troubled Water, the choir provided harmony and a joyful port in the storm for people who had chosen to come and see them and to some thankful shoppers passing by. Audience members said the concert was 'great' and 'lovely' and one lady said she just had to sing along, but tried to keep it quiet!

The choir was led by their Musical Director, Kieran Seymour, who had chosen a varied set of music, ranging from Mozart's Ave Verum to the Everly Brothers' Let it be Me, with some Male Voice Choir classics such as The Rose and Gwahoddiaid in the mix. Superb accompaniment was provided by Sue Bennett on the piano, with a guest appearance by Ben Shaw on the church's storm-defying organ.

The concert was one of St Peter's Church's Coffee Break Concerts. Peter Siepmann, the Director of Music at St Peter's, said it was ten years since the choir had last performed there and it was great to have them back singing – 'there's something very special about the sound of a male voice choir'.
